A DESCRIPTION OF COUNTY BUSINESS PATTERNS
PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

BY

Robert Schiedel, Chief
County Business Patterns Branch
Economic Surveys Division
U.S. Department of Commerce

One of the earliest users of administrative records to obtain statistical data is the County Business Patterns (CBP) program. This series started the cooperative work of several government agencies and private industry sharing the responsibilities and costs of providing needed statistical summary data of an economic nature at the county level.

County Business Patterns is a product derived from administrative reports supplemented with statistical inputs from a survey of selected multi-establishment employers. The first CBP provided employment and payroll data covering the first quarter of 1946. Data were provided for Standard Industrial Classification economic divisions and major groups for the United States, for each state, and each large county. SIC Economic Division totals were published for small counties and some counties were combined for eight states. After 1946, CBP was published intermittently until 1964 at which time it became an annual publication.

The County Business Patterns program from 1949 through 1973 represented a joint effort of the Social Security Administration and the Bureau of the Census to provide economic statistics that the business community and government utilize in a wide variety of ways. Statistics were provided on reporting units, first quarter Federal Insurance contribution Act (FICA) taxable payroll and mid-March pay period employment by 4-digit SIC industry classification and county location. The data are primarily derived from Social Security Administration's employment and taxable payroll information reported on Treasury Form 941, Schedule A.

Each legal entity is required to file a Separate Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return, Treasury Form 941, regardless of affiliation, stock ownership, or control. The IRS Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number requests physical location and classification information which allows for the initial assignment of the geographic and SIC codes by the Social Security Administration. The Schedule A portion of Form 941 requests March 12 payperiod employment in addition to the taxable payrolls data. These data are the major source of administrative data used to compile CBP. Supplemental information was obtained from some 4000 multi-establishment employers in a special survey conducted jointly by the Census Bureau and the Social Security Administration. Those companies which failed to report on Form 941, Schedule A in sufficient detail for County Business Patterns purposes were canvassed for additional information.

Due to the Social Security Administration's method of collecting data known as the (Establishment Reporting Plan), the statistics in County Business Patterns were tabulated in terms of "reporting units". The Establishment Reporting Plan applies a standard system to the reporting procedures of multi-establishment employers so that the needed statistical information can be obtained with a minimum reporting burden on employers.

X Under the Establishment Reporting Plan system, a nonmanufacturing employer is allowed to aggregate employment and payroll data for a number of establishments with identical industrial activity in the same county and supply the data for the establishment group as a whole, called a "reporting unit". Thus, detailed data for each physical location of a business are not always available. All manufacturing establishments are reported separately even if two or more are in the same industry in the same county.

County Business Patterns programs prior to the 1974 publication reflected data on first quarter taxable payroll and mid-March payperiod employment as reported to Social Security Administration on the Treasury Form 941, Schedule A. The data in the publication represent the following types of employment covered by the Federal Insurance Contributions Act: a) All covered wage and salary employment of private non-farm employers and of nonprofit membership organizations under compulsory coverage and, b) All employment of religious, charitable, educational, and other nonprofit organizations covered under the elective provisions of the Federal Insurance Contributions Act.

The following types of employment, whether covered in whole or in part by the Social Security Program, are excluded from CBP tabulations: Government employees, self-employed persons, farm workers, domestic service workers, railroad employment subject to the Railroad Retirement Act and employment on oceanborne vessels.

Mid-March pay period employment is the count of employees during the pay period that includes March 12 of the subject year.

First quarter FICA taxable payrolls are defined as the amount of taxable wages paid for covered employment during the January-March quarter. Wages in excess of the taxable limit are not reflected in CBP data. The specific limit on the amount of wages that are subject to the FICA withholding tax is raised frequently. For 1973 the amount of wages subject to FICA withholding was $10,800.

In order to provide geographic detail, reporting units are assigned county geographic codes on the basis of the physical location of the establishments represented by the reporting units. Reporting units without a fixed location within a State or of unknown county locations are tabulated separately under a "Statewide" classification for each State.

The entire business of individual employers with less than 50 employees is regarded by SSA as a single reporting unit regardless of the county and industry distribution of the operation. However, the data in CBP for such employers are distributed by county and industry based on individual establishment records available from the most current Economic Census.

The disclosure provisions of the Bureau (in accordance with Federal regulations), provide that data may not be released if the operations of an individual employer might be disclosed. The number of reporting units and their distribution by employment size class are not considered a disclosure and these items may appear in instances where employment and payroll data are withheld. Data are not shown separately for any industry that does not have at least 100 employees or 10 reporting units in the area - County, State, or United States - covered by the tabulation. Data for an unpublished industry are included in the total shown for the broader industry group of which it is a part.

The 1973 County Business Patterns publication was the final edition under these described concepts.

The introduction of the Standard Statistical Establishment List provided the basis for the expansion of the 1974 County Business Patterns program. The development of the SSEL constitutes a major step toward modernizing and standardizing the means by which various statistical programs of the government collect and process information. The SSEL consists of a central multi-purpose computerized name and address and EI number file of all domestic establishments with employees covered by FICA in the economic sector. Each name and address record on the file contains a set of standardized data and information items.

For single unit firms, the data in the new series starting with 1974 are obtained from administrative records of the Internal Revenue Service as well as from administrative records from the Social Security Administration. More specifically, payroll data by EI number are obtained from the Quarterly IRS Treasury Form 941 filed by employers for payroll income tax withholding and the employment data are obtained from SSA Form 941, Schedule A filed by employers for Social Security tax purposes.

Individual establishment data for multi-location firms are provided by the Bureau's Annual Company Organization Survey which is an integral part of the SSEL. Each year the Bureau mails a Company Organization Report to all known multi-establishment companies with 50 or more employees. The smaller companies are mailed report forms about every three years on a rotating basis. The COS reports prelist the name and addresses of the companies' establishments and request an update of the establishment listing. The companies are asked to report employment and payroll data and to indicate a kind of business or address change if any occurred during the year.

Initially, all employers are assigned industry and county classifications by the Social Security Administration on the basis of nature of business and location information supplied on their applications for employer identification numbers or by a supplementary inquiry.

The Bureau of the Census also assigns industry and county classifications to a substantial number of establishments canvassed in its Economic Censuses and current economic programs on the basis of information on actual physical location and major activity. Industry classifications for 1974 and 1975 are based on the 1972 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual issued by the Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget.

County business Patterns is now tabulated on an establishment basis as opposed to the reporting unit concept used in the prior years. The establishment (a single physical location at which business is conducted) is generally considered to be the smallest basic unit for which key figures of economic activity are available. The use of the establishment concept provides for a more detailed and definitive level of data publication not possible under the former reporting unit basis. Additionally, the use of the establishment as the basic unit of economic activity will allow consistency with other major data series currently conducted by the Census Bureau.

The current CBP program provides summary data on an annual basis on number of employees for the week including March 12, first quarter total payroll, total annual payroll, and number of establishments by employment-size class. To marketing people interested in a measurement of outlets, the establishment count will be a significant improvement. Data are published for over 700 detailed kinds of businesses based on the 1972 Standard Industrial Classification Manual providing the business and industrial makeup of each of the more than 3000 counties and county equivalents in the United States. In addition, summary data are provided for each state and the United States. Summary lines with less than fifty employees are not shown separately but are included at the next broader SIC group.

The publishing of data on total quarterly and annual payroll overcomes one of the inherent drawbacks of the earlier CBP program which was limited to first quarter FICA taxable payroll. The inclusion of total quarterly and annual payroll provides a needed measure of continuity with other data series such as the Bureau's Economic Censuses and the Internal Revenue Services "Statistics of Income". Total annual payroll will aid in the identification of those seasonal operations not having payroll values for the first quarter, an advantage not realized in prior years' County Business Patterns.

The CBP data base consists of some 5.4 million establishment records - 4.4 million single unit records and about 1 million multi-establishment records. The single unit data from the Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration are processed separately from the multiunit records. Single unit records are initially submitted to a computer check for the omission of employment and payroll data. Employment data not present, are estimated based on the employment and payroll ratios of those employer records with reported data. Ratios are developed at the state 2-digit SIC level for various employment size classes. Quarterly payroll is estimated based on the reporting patterns of eight quarters of payroll. In addition, the IRS 941 payroll data are compared to the SSA 941, Schedule A FICA taxable payroll with the difference reconciled when needed.

The multi-establishment records are reconciled on a company basis to the administrative record data reported to the Internal Revenue Service and Social Security Administration. Year to year comparisons are made at the establishment level and estimates are made for non-reported data, based on prior year information, administrative record data, or industry group averages, depending on the data item(s) being estimated.

Following the initial edits, single unit records having $100,000 or more in annual payroll and all multi-establishment records with impossible geographic and Standard Industrial Classification codes are printed for analytical review and correction. After correction, the single unit records and multi-establishment records are merged and sorted into area - SIC sequence in preparation for a cell edit. The summary cell edit tests the ratio of current year to prior year data entries for four data items: total number of establishments, total first quarter employment, total first quarter payroll, and total annual payroll.

After the cell edit review the establishment data are corrected and summarized for the publication tables. After the publication tables are reviewed, corrections are carried to the tables prior to sending the reports for printing. We encountered many problems in the assembly and processing of the CBP data. The major problems being the COS reconciliation to the administrative record data and the imputation of data for the partially reported multi-establishment companies. The latest County Business Patterns publications cover the year 1975. We anticipate that the 1976 publication will be available in early 1978.

The County Business Patterns project will be periodically changed in order to provide statistical data to complement the ongoing current economic statistical programs.

Consideration is currently being given to additional changes that will expand the utility of the program. In order to publish summary data for places with a population of 100,000 or more plans for the future are to geographically code the entire file "to place". Place codes are now a part of the SSEL; however, these records require additional research in order to assure their reliability. This expansion will permit the publishing of data for places with population of 100,000 or more and to provide special tabulations by place and/or ZIP code for places with less than 100,000 population. We will also be able to publish Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas for New England since New England SMSA areas are defined in terms of places rather than counties.

Consideration is currently being given to develop computer edits and summary routines in preparation for inclusion of sales and receipts data as an additional data item in CBP. Research and evaluation of these data are needed to evaluate conceptual problems concerning sales and receipts as to what items are to be included or excluded and what is readily reportable by finance institutions, real estate firms, and non-profit organizations.

In general, the inclusion of sales and receipts data in County Business Patterns would provide an accurate identification of this important view of the economic spectrum and would increase the value of the series. Comparable data would be provided for the four year interval between economic censuses. The data would be of value to data users in general and specifically to the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Economic Analysis in determining gross national product and in their analysis and measurement of economic trends. The proposed data would also serve to strengthen existing Census Bureau programs by providing annual benchmarks and giving a basis for comparison of results.

Sales and receipts data for single location companies would be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service income tax returns. Corresponding sales and receipts data for individual establishments of multi-establishment firms would be obtained via an added item on the Annual Company Organization Survey.

The proposed program would provide sales and receipts, March 12 employment, first quarter total payroll, total annual payroll, and number of establishments by employment-size class to the 4-digit SIC level for each county and for each place with 100,000 or more inhabitants in the United States. In addition, summary data will be provided at the U.S., state, and Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area level.

In conclusion, the described improvements will not be a simple task particularly with sales and receipts because of the intricacies involved in the use of administrative data in the out of scope of census industries. There are many conceptual problems which must be confronted and resolved as to what items are to be included and to determine what data are readily reportable by finance, insurance, real estate, transportation, and non-profit organizations. There are also problems in the establishment concept in the out-of-scope of census industries which require resolution. Also, we anticipate operational problems in the matching of employer identification numbers reported in the Company Organization Survey to the Internal Revenue Service both with the EI numbers and the distribution of the sales and receipts data on an establishment basis. Once these problems have been resolved, and this may take several years, we expect to produce a much improved CBP which will provide an annual "census" of economic activity of the employer universe.
